Proficiency:
Proficiency is the ability to demonstrate your job as a Stereotaxis navigational coach through clinical and technical application. Each level of proficiency provides the minimum standard of clinical application that is vital to progressing to the next stage. As you progress through the levels, your clinical, technical, and sales application will grow; providing you with the confidence and navigational coaching capabilities that are necessary to running and growing a territory.

Proficiency Testing:

Case submissions
When you see a case, it is your responsibility to gather the appropriate images from the case and submit a case report detailing the events of the case. This will demonstrate your proficiency in the procedure type, or potential gaps that still need to be filled in order to be proficient. These submissions will be reviewed by a committee, and you will be provided   feedback that you can use for your next procedure.

Goal Setting/Procedure Type Focus
On a quarterly basis, you can set SMART goals at PNR around the number of submissions you would like to target submitting based on your current level of experience. This may be anywhere from 2-10 based on your current proficiency level.

Introduction to the Oral Test
Once you have demonstrated through accurate case submission reporting that you understand and feel proficient in a procedure type, you have the option to present your skills to the Coaching Committee at the end of the quarter. If you demonstrate proficiency in the procedure type, you will be given a pass for 101 in that procedure type and can move onto the 201 level of proficiency.

Oral Test
Anyone can request to test out of a procedure type at the end of any quarter. All of the objectives and goals that will be tested are laid out in the associated documents on the website. You will review the number of submissions from the previous quarter for the procedure type. The test will be 1 hour with the Coaching Committee that will include a CTD, FST, 201 level SCS/CS.
